CHICAGO, CLEVELAND AND TELEGRAPH.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

The Atlantic is in a week's later dates from Europe, and news of a heavy decline in breakfasts, stringent money market and the increasing probability of peace. We have from New York that Mr. Clay's recall is insisted on by our Government, and from Washington that there is no Speaker yet. The late storm on the Atlantic Coast has been productive of many disasters. The news from California and Oregon is commercially favorable. The Indian war there goes fierce.

From Madison we have the Legislative proceedings of the Assembly, and the Legislative proceedings of yesterday. In our local column will be found a number of interesting items.

Mr. Martens' Message.

In the Seal of yesterday we commented at some length upon that part of Mr. Barstow's Message relating to the Finances, the Schools and University Funds and the Charitable and Benevolent Institutions of the State. We have a few words more to add this morning upon the remaining portions of this partisan document. The first topic treated, after those above referred to, is the Fox and Wisconsin Rivers Improvement.

This to be sure is no State work, being in charge of and controlled by a private company; but its progress is a subject of public interest and importance. The Message informs us that the Company have already expended $600,000 in the prosecution of the work and in the liquidation of outstanding liabilities; that the portion from Green Bay to Lake Winnebago "is about completed," and that the whole improvement, from Green Bay to the Mississippi, will be finished within the current year. The rail road system of the State is specially commendable to the "fostering care of the Legislature," and all legislation deprecates "which, by interfering with chartered rights, or by whatever means, a sense of insecurity is induced," may deter capitalists from investing their means in these improvements. Thus far, certainly, the rail road corporations have had no cause to complain of the Legislature of this State, either for privileges withheld, or rights invaded.

A formal complaint is next made against the General Government for neglecting, or refusing to appropriate money, for the improvement of our Rivers and Harbors, and for other urgent treatment towards the West. Had Mr. Barstow distinctly charged the responsibility for this neglect and ill-treatment to his proper beings; to wit, upon the Democratic Presidents and Congresses, who have denied justice to the West, we should have attached more value to this portion of his message and put more faith in the sincerity of his recommendations. But so long as Mr. Barstow and his supporters vote for and uphold the very men who are guilty of these acts of wrong and injustice towards the West, and who openly proclaim themselves opposed in principle to River and Harbor Improvement Bills, and who, notwithstanding such repeated avowals and acts to match, continue to be sustained and supported by the Slave Democracy, in the West, as elsewhere, cannot but regard this part of the message as a mere protest.

The Pacific Railroad next finds favor in the eyes of Mr. Barstow, and the Legislature is invited to memorialize Congress on the subject. There is no doubt that Congress has shamefully neglected its duty and the public interests in this matter, but whether, in the present aspect of parties and the existing feeling between the Northern and Southern States, anything better can be hoped for at their hands, we very much doubt. A memorial, however, will do no harm, and may quicken their action. Some change is recommended in the militia laws of the State, whereby greater efficiency can be given to the volunteer companies which are now organized, in considerable numbers, within its borders. We hope that the Legislature will give heed to the suggestion, and provide, at least, for the enrollment of the Militia (thereby securing our full annual quota of arms from the General Government) and for the encouragement of uniformed companies. These furnish the State with the means of always enforcing its laws, and preserving the public peace, and in time of war constitute the nucleus round which the military spirit of the country can be most promptly and effectively embodied and organized.

The Prohibitory Liquor Law next engages Mr. Barstow's attention. Coming into office two years ago, under a voluntary and written pledge to approve and sign a Prohibitory Liquor Law, should the people vote for and the Legislature enact one, Mr. Barstow now expresses the fervent hope "that any further legislation" on this subject will be disengaged by the Legislature. In support of this, he argues that the experience of other states has demonstrated the inefficiency of such laws, and the right and responsibility, they lend themselves to the support of such a law.

This is not a cheerful view in which to inaugurate a new year; but it is unavoidable, under the impression which I can not resist—the remedy is with the people, and yet more with the conductors of the periodical and daily press, who can do much and actually do much, in forming public opinion, and who therefore stand in double guilt before God and man, when abusing such power and such responsibility, they lend themselves to the support of such a law.

The recent statement of the President to the House, by forcing upon them his Message, before the members had time to read it, and before it was even introduced, the corruption with which it was carried through, the want of fidelity to his trust, his want of scruples, and his want of principle, to be manifested by all parties to be concerned, has disgraced the Senate, and has disgraced the nation. Messrs. Billingsley and Burnham have uniformly voted for Mr. Barstow, and their firm and consistent conduct far exceed that of their colleagues, and their friends and constituents of the friends of freedom and progress throughout the State.

Legislating in FAVOR or HOURS.—The Council and City of Buffalo, has ordered a committee of five of its Aldermen, to inquire into and upon the expediency and necessity of redressing the entrance into the First Presbyterian Church grounds of that city, sufficiently to allow ladies walking to pass the posts.

The GRANT JUBILEE.—J. H. W. of Buffalo writes to the Madison "Argus" and "Advertiser" all about the great Jubilee which was held at this place over the election of Barstow, in which he says nothing else than equally a sell on his side.

There were two voters, one a tall boy, who had part in the jubilee demonstration, and the other was known or thought of it, that neither a friend nor an enemy of "Our Noble Governor," was mentioned.
